

Reclaimed Moffett Hangar One Redwood

www.mbreclaimed.com

Redwood

Completed during the Great Depression, Hangar One has a rich history including World War II, Cold War spying and space exploration. Larger than six foot ball fields, Hangar One is one of the largest free standing structures in the world. As a result of the recent renovation, Mission Bell has procured some of this old growth redwood material. What was once the roof of this historical landmark in Silicon Valley can become a part of your next project.
